Unit descriptions

ORG80005 Strategic Leadership
Offers students an opportunity to build strategic thinking competencies through case analysis of relevant businesses, nonprofits, and state organizations, as well as through strategic analysis of their own career path. Offers students an opportunity to work in a consultative role with partner organizations to develop strategic action plans, to perform critical analyses of external and internal environments for a real organization, and to develop recommendations for the organization’s strategic positioning and actions. From these discussions and personal development exercises, students have an opportunity to develop an action plan for personal growth as a strategic leader. Prereq ORG80006 and ORG80004.

ORG80014 Ethical Leadership
Considers leadership dilemmas that can arise when individual values conflict with those of the organization or when a situation requires decisions with conflict value sets. Offers students an opportunity to use case studies, their own experiences, and current events to examine actions leaders have taken and consequences faced when confronted with ethical dilemmas. Students work on a real-life ethical dilemma for understanding in-depth reasoning of the problem and to develop an action plan for solving and preventing similar problems at the organizational and societal levels. From these discussions, students have an opportunity to develop a personal model for ethical leadership.
