Turning knowing into know-how.

From 2016 the Swinburne Advantage is available to all new undergraduates – no matter what field of study you choose. In addition to the huge range of study options our new, simplified course structure offers, Work Integrated Learning is a guaranteed part of your degree. It's just a matter of choosing the opportunity that suits your future.

Professional Degrees
We understand that if you are just starting out in your professional career you need real-life work experience to be competitive to secure a job after graduation. That's why we've guaranteed a 12-month, paid work placement in our new range of undergraduate professional degrees. You'll receive invaluable full-time work experience, credit towards your degree and confidence in knowing your future career is just a course away. Look for degrees with the title (Professional) to know that you're guaranteed a work placement in your course.

Professional Placements and Internships
Working professionals in your field can be the best teachers for your future career. Our professional placements and internships can pair you with a leading employer in your area of study. A professional internship takes 12 weeks, at one to two days per week, while a professional placement can be six or 12 months of paid full-time work. You'll receive credit towards your degree, professional skills and a real-life overview of your potential future – from the experts themselves.

Industry-linked Projects
The way we see it, problem-solving is an asset for any career. For this reason, we give you the opportunity to take on real-life industry and community projects as part of your course. Team-based challenges may include research projects, concept development or internal briefs. You'll earn credit for your degree while developing your investigative side to the fullest.

Industry Study Tours
We believe the future depends on having the skills to build your career for the global job market. That's why we offer industry study tours: 15- to 30-day explorations abroad of one or more international companies and/or events related to your field. While receiving credit towards your degree, you'll also gain a better understanding of cultural differences and processes, along with exposure to your area of study in an international, professional setting.

Accreditation Placements
For some professions you must have hands-on skills directly 'in the trenches' of your future workplace. We recognise this importance, which is why our accreditation placements are compulsory in many degrees with specific skill sets. Depending on your degree, these placements may be paid and/or credit-bearing. You'll finish knowing you have the professional experience you need to become professionally accredited for the career you want.

Create your own opportunities
A wide range of industry-related experiences in your field all contribute to knowing whether a career is right for you. That's why we offer you a variety of voluntary, non-credit bearing experiences related to your study area. They include volunteering, career development, hearing from guest speakers, exhibitions, international events and online activities. These experiences are designed to give you more clarity about what your future holds.
