Business to a tea

Seven years of competitive skydiving taught Nicole to be fearless. That served her well when she started Universal Village, a Fairtrade grocery enterprise. The Master of Entrepreneurship and Innovation then taught her to zoom out from the day-to-day detail and think about her business strategically. Next, she launched Eloments, the world's first 100% natural vitamin tea.

In 2019, Nicole was named a Dynamic Business Top 10 Entrepreneur of the Year and, in 2020, one of the Top 50 Small Business Leaders. Today, Eloments is stocked in over 2000 stores across Australia and the UK, and her original tea brand, Qi Tea, turns over $1.5 million a year.

Nicole Lamond

Founder and CEO of Universal Village, Master of Entrepreneurship and Innovation, Class of 2012

Why Swinburne?

Highest earning postgraduates in Melbourne*

For a young university, our courses really pack a punch. Postgraduates from Swinburne consistently earn more than their peers from other Melbourne universities. Why? Because they're armed to meet the needs of a modern workforce. Our courses are co-created by industry professionals, so the skills you learn are the skills employers are seeking. Plus, our industry connections mean you could be working on live projects briefed in by real-world clients. All to make you the most employable version of yourself.

Australia's first Adobe Creative Campus

Digital literacy skills are essential to today's careers. That's why we're the first university in Australia to partner with Adobe as an Adobe Creative Campus. For you, that means free access to over 20 Adobe Creative Cloud applications, including Photoshop, InDesign and Fresco, plus complimentary consultations with our Adobe Digital Coaches. It's another way to make your résumé stand out. Because knowing the tech is as important as knowing the technique.

Research with impact_now

A university should question the status quo and shake up the unshakeable. Our Space Technology and Industry Institute is probing the final frontiers of astrophysics, aerospace, AI and more to tackle challenges at the forefront of human understanding and imagination. With our Hydrogen Hub, we're investing in the sustainable fuel of the future, testing and trialling emerging hydrogen technologies that could see Australia building a domestic and export industry in clean energy from renewable sources. These are just two of the many areas in which we're shifting the conversation for good.

Flexible study options

University should fit around your life. Alongside traditional face-to-face classes, we also offer online options – both in real-time and on-demand. Plus, many lectures and tutorials are held in the evenings or on weekends – perfect if you're working full-time. You could also study through distance learning or choose to study part-time. Some courses and units are offered in intensive mode, which means you cover large amounts of course content over a few days each month – a great way to finish your course quicker. Plus, there's a good chance you'll be eligible for exemptions if you have relevant professional experience, which could reduce the number of units you need to do and allow you to get your qualification sooner.

*Our postgraduates earn the highest median salary of any in Melbourne according to the QILT Graduates Outcomes Survey 2018-2020
